Internship at Susquehanna International Group
Summer 2024

I spent the summer of 2024 interning for quantitative trading firm Susquehanna International Group in Chicago. There, I studied poker theory, options theory, and game theory; also, I took classes in mock-trading and got SIE-certified! Finally, I did a data science project in Python relating earnings to volatility. The internship culminated in a poker tournament in the Philly headquarters, which I'm proud to say I survived until the lunch break. In my spare time, I paddled down the river, admired works by John Singer Sargent in the Art Institute, and explored the bustling city of Chicago! Thank you to the Byrne family for this fantastic opportunity.
